Approved For Release 2004/01/16: CIA-RDP75-00149R000500040037-6

PERS: Humphrey, Hubert

CIA 8-02

LOUISVILLE, KY. COURIER-JOURNAL

223,511 S. 327,601

Dates

AUG 25 1964

umphrey, McCarthy

are worlds apart.

percent of the Senate roll calls
—making them the country's "most agreeing" pair of samestate senators. Their voting records in previous years were similarly parallel.

Others Rate Alike

Pressure groups also rate the two alike. In 1961-62, each retion and the National Farmers Union. The A.F.L.-C.I.O. Committee on Political Education gave Humphrey a 100 per-

The few significant votes the re worlds apart.

Voting Records:

In 1963, Humphrey and Mc

The lew significant votes the men have differed on include ax matters, with McCarthy occasionally voting to maintain a few fields of special interest including taxation, farm policy. Carthy disagreed on only 3 allowance while Humphrey has consistently backed a reduc-

Split On Barry's Proposal

The only major foreign-affairs vote on which they split was a 1961 amendment by Sen-ator Barry M. Goldwater to strip the proposed United States Arms Control and Distwo alike. In 1961-62, each received a 100 percent score from search powers. Humphrey, the Americans for Democratic Actionization original proposer of a "peace" agency, voted against while McCarthy voted for it.

> Real differences between Humphrey and McCarthy lie

Washington, D. C.—In actual voting records and stands on issues, Minnesota's Senators Hubert H. Humphrey and Eugene McCarthy — conteders for the Democratic vice-presidential nomination — are as alike as Tweedle-dum and Tweedle-dee.

But in their personalities, the way they have conducted themselves in Congress and the way they might act as vice president or president, the men have differed on include a method of their legislative ("cathy 82 percent." Three conservative organizations, including Americans for Constitutional Action and the In 1949, Humphrey's lively interest in virtually every legislation, gave each—a flat zero president or president, the men have differed on include an and McCarthy, on the other hand methods and the in analysis of their legislative ("cathy 82 percent." Three conservative organizations, including Americans for Constitutional Action and the In 1949, Humphrey's lively interest in virtually every legislation, with an interest the subject has brought some criticism that he was spreading himself too thin. He has since longer in the president of president or president, the men have differed on include the men analysis of their legislative cathy and their personalities, in analysis of their legislative capture. Three conservative organizations, including Americans for Constitutional Action and the In 1949, Humphrey's lively interest in virtually every legislation, including Americans for Constitutional Action and the In 1949, Humphrey's lively interest in virtually every legislation, with a percentage of their legislation and their personalities, the way they support the conservation or president or pre the Mexican farm-labor program, and establishment of a watchdog committee over the Central Intelligence Agency.

Personalities:

The difference in the two The difference in the two men's legislative records appears to be rooted in their basic personalities. Humpbrey is the cbullient, activist originator of programs, the "cloer." McCarthy, by contrast, is a scholarly, one-time sociology professor, a contemplative man who arouses a minimum of controversy. controversy.

C. 1964, Congressional Quarterly, Inc.